July 2008 - First exportation to USA

Ceràmiques Aparicio is in constant movement to extend our range of exportation to go increasingly far. One of our dreams is that our products arrive to the whole world, also being able to spread our culture and tradition to the maximum number of countries so that they could know and enjoy the Mediterranean style that characterizes us so much.

In this occasion, we are proud to announce that our products have already crossed new borders, opening to the United States market.

On this month we have done our first sale to a North American company. We expect to maintain this relation in order to consolidate ours product in this country.

This is a great challenge for Ceràmiques Aparicio. We have high expectations to obtain the success that will allow us to continue ahead repeating in many other countries.

If you want to obtain more information about the company of our first customer in the United States, you can consult this web page:
